A CROWDED HOUSE.

Notwithstanding the fact that last night was Hallow'en and a great many attended social functions, the new Opera House was filled and those who were there were not sorry that they went. The show in vaudeville pictures was good. On tomorrow night the greatest war picture ever produced will be seen at the Opera House. Col. John S. Mosley will enact scenes that forty-seven years ago he played in real life on the very battle grounds from Alexandria to Vicksburg. This will be a rare treat. Special matinee for ladies and school children tomorrow at 3:15 and the price of admission will only be 5 cents.

AN UNSUCCESSFUL SEARCH.

A telegram from Petersburg was received at police headquarters late yesterday afternoon asking that officers be sent to the union station to search an incoming train for Oscar Blackwell and C. R. Almond, who are wanted for grand larceny. Descriptions of the men were furnished and Acting Lieutenant Roberts and Officer Young were on hand when the train arrived. The officers went through the train, but found no passengers answering the description given in the dispatch. The men, it was stated, had purchased tickets for Alexandria, but were on their way to Baltimore.

SYNDICAL UNION.

Tonight the union of the Women's Missionary Societies of the Synod of Virginia will convene in the Central Presbyterian Church, corner of Third and I streets northwest, Washington, at 8 o'clock. A number of Presbyterians of this city will attend. There will be business sessions tomorrow and Thursday, and addresses Wednesday and Thursday nights by Rev. Jas. O. Reavis and Rev. John Little respectively.

HALLOW'EEN.

The Misses Nicol, at their home on Washington street, entertained at a beautiful Hallow'en party last night. At first the rooms were dimly lighted and presented a weird and picturesque appearance, thronged with the silent or whispering masqueraders, clad in many and variegated costumes, some of them so ghostly as to remind one of Shakespeare's description of the night preceding the murder of the great Caesar, when the graves gave up their sheeted dead who did walk and gibber in the streets of Rome. The lights being turned up and everyone unmasking discovered the personality of the costumed to the astonishment of each other. A pantomime was then enacted taken from and prompted by the point of "The Eve of St. Agnes." Games followed, then supper, the most enjoyable evening ending with a dance in the spacious drawing room.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES.

Evangelistic services were begun in the First Baptist Church last night. The services are being conducted by Rev. J. E. Briggs, pastor of the Fifth Baptist Church, Washington. There was a large attendance and considerable interest manifested. The services will be held nightly until further notice.

The tug boat Hanson H. Keys, which was run ashore at Pooles Island last Thursday night, towing a raft to Chesapeake City, Md., was successfully towed and returned to Baltimore yesterday none the worse for the experience. The raft, which broke loose, was found in the Gunpowder river.

BROKE UP IN A ROW.

A negro meeting held in Hagerstown, Md., to advocate a low tariff and in which the name of David J. Lewis and his candidacy were mentioned broke up in disorder Saturday night. Now negro politicians are accusing each other. Republican negroes talked to day in this connection of the use of aged eggs.

Prof. W. C. Payne, colored, of Alexandria, formerly commissioner to the Jamestown Exposition and an agent of the National Liberty Party League, organized eight years ago in St. Louis, held a meeting in Good Samaritan Hall. He hired the hall, announcing that he would "discuss the colored voter and his duty to his race." A large audience was there.

Professor Payne talked of the republican high tariff and presented arguments to show that it was responsible for the present high cost of living. He spoke favorably of David J. Lewis, the democratic nominee for Congress, and said his election would be good for the people.

These views did not agree with those of a number of republican negroes, so Rev. John C. Newman, an active negro worker of Hagerstown, who said he had been invited to talk, got up and started to make a republican speech and to advocate the election of Brainerd H. Warner, jr., the republican candidate. He had not progressed far when Professor Payne stopped him, and for a few minutes there was lively talk. The audience filed out.

Professor Payne accused the republican negroes of attempting to break up the meeting. He said he had paid for the hall and outsiders had no right to interfere.

HALLOW'EEN PARTIES.

The city was alive with those who sought to make merry on Hallow'en last night. Parties were the ruling pleasure of the evening, and in every section of the city joy reigned supreme. Those on whom Cupid has already placed his mark as well as those who were recipients with each other in paying tribute to Hallow'en.

Many masqueraders appeared in different quarters of the city. So far as known, no serious practical jokes were perpetrated nor was there any marked disorder. Many cowbells could be heard and there was joy in the air.

One of the most pleasant gatherings of the evening was at the residence of Mr. Vernon Moore, where his daughter had entertained a host of friends. Games suitable to the occasion, were indulged in by the young ladies and gentlemen present and fortunes, for well or worse, were tried, much to the merriment of all present. Messrs. Harry Hayden and Charles Swift furnished delightful music during the festivities. After a bountiful oyster supper, about midnight the guests departed voting it a most pleasant evening.

The celebration of Hallow'en is probably as old as the Christmas festival. It is the eve of the festival of All Saints, or All Hallow's day, far back into English history. All though the German and Celtic nations have similar days to celebrate, Hallow'en is said to be almost exclusively English.

CALLED TO AUGUSTA.

Rev. J. R. Sevier, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in this city, has received a call to the Augusta, Ga., Presbyterian Church, the pulpit of which he filled a few Sundays ago. The church was unanimous and urgent. The call was to Mr. Sevier has been called is one of the largest and most prominent in the Southern Assembly, having over seven hundred members on the rolls. Mr. Sevier, while not desiring to leave Alexandria, will give the call his earnest consideration. He assumed charge of the Second Presbyterian Church in this city in 1907, and during the time he has been pastor he has labored assiduously in enhancing the various activities of the church and consequently enjoys the favor of those over whom he has been placed. He has also vied in all union movements looking to the advancement of the interests of the church at large. This action the railway officials say, is found necessary to take care of the steady increase in business at Alexandria. It is impossible to provide facilities for properly handling the great volume of business. To take care of this growth in business, a large addition has been made to the new freight station which more than doubles its capacity as at first contemplated.
